

Improvements made In Tourist Park

PROVES ATTRACTION FOR MANY TOURISTS

Grayling's Tourist park has been very much improved this summer. This property was purchased from the Connine estate after having been used for many years without cost.

This is a beautiful wooded park of about 40 acres in area, located at the east end of Michigan avenue. The East Branch river passes thru the grounds. Martin Hirtzel, who was engaged as caretaker last spring has kept the property clean and orderly and has looked after those who stopped at the park. The shelter house that has been in use there for several years, has been partitioned thru the middle, one part being used as the caretaker's home, while the other half is for use of the public as desired.

A new well has been added, the water from which has stood the most rigid test and was given full approval by the state department of health.

The park is nicely lighted and there are twenty electrical outlets for use of tourists who desire electricity for lighting their trailers and for other uses. A charge of 25c per day or $1.00 per week is made for the electricity. The park is well filled practically every night and is becoming one of the most popular tourist parks in Michigan. No charge is being made at this time for use of the park.

Burke Employees To Have Fish Fry

TO BE BIG PARTY—PROGRAM 'NEVERTHING'

Besides having time to look after the City's affairs, Mayor George Burke doesn't forget his employees. This time it will be a fish fry and Paddy (Burke) says this is going to be a hum-dinger.

The scene of action will be at the "Hoot Owl" where chefs will be busy dishing out crispy brown fish to a hungry crowd. About 20 are expected to be on hand for the devastation. They will come from Burke Oil stations in Grayling, Roscommon and Gaylord.

Pat also says that "Baldy" will be the master of ceremonies. Character sketches will be Archie Woskoski as Major Hoople and Jack Callahan in tap dancing and Irish songs.

George is a good provider and it is a foregone conclusion that this is going to be a grand time and with plenty to eat.

Volunteers Wanted

Help is needed to assist in cleaning up the interior of the new Masonic temple, preparatory for use. Volunteers are hereby requested. Please notify Worshipful Master Ernest Larson or Secretary George Schauble.

Mayor Burke To Lay Cornerstone

CEREMONIES TO BE HELD NEXT TUESDAY

Mayor George Burke will officiate at the laying of the cornerstone for Grayling's new post office, next Tuesday. Plans are about completed.

We are given to understand that no elaborate ceremonies have been planned for this occasion, but the dedication later will be observed with elaborate plans. At the cornerstone laying it is expected that music will be furnished by Grayling's Drum and Bugle Corps. Talks will be given by Rev. Father Moloney of St. Mary's church, and Rev. Flory of Michelson Memorial church.

Postmaster James McDonnell says that documents and letters for placing within the metal box are being assembled and will be ready when the time comes.

It is expected that the council members will attend in a body, and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance of local citizens present.

LET LOCAL OFFICERS SHARE IN WELFARE DUTIES

There is a strong, forward-going movement on to gain back for the people of the counties the right to participate in the administration of welfare work. With the care of indigents now being administered by the federal and state governments, it is the belief that funds are extravagantly spent. Local taxpayers must share in the costs but may have little to say about how the money is spent, and those for whom it is intended received limited aid.

This is now governed by act 257 of the Public Acts of Michigan. Petitions are being circulated in every county of the state asking for a referendum of the act, and asking that it be placed upon the ballot of the next regular election, giving the people "back home" an opportunity of saying something as to how the money they raise may be spent.

To anyone interested in this matter, and that means about everyone, request is made that he or she sign one of the petitions. They may be found at the following places in Grayling: Mac & Gidley's drug store; Carl Sorenson's barber shop; the Avalanche Office; Frank Beckman's barber shop, and the Burke garage. Also petitions are in the hands of all supervisors and poor commissioners. Signers must do so within their own voting precinct.

RECEPTION FOR TEACHERS

Wednesday evening a reception and dance was given by the school board for the faculty, and senior and junior classes of our public schools at the school gymnasium.

Shortly after eight o'clock the receiving line made up of the members of the school board and the faculty was formed and those attending met the new teachers, and renewed acquaintance with those who have returned.

A very interesting program of dancing made up of the following numbers was very much enjoyed: Solo Dance—Betty Underwood, Swannee River—Wanda Doron, and Beverly Peterson.

Little Hula Town—Robert Redhead.

Solo Dance—Patsy Heric; Bowery Dance—Billyann Clippert and Burton Peterson.

Rope Dance—Emily Giegling, Hillbilly Dance—Mary Jane Joseph, Ruth Burrows, Gloria McNeven.

Later in the evening "The Melody Makers" from Lake City struck up with peppy swing music and the floor was filled for dancing. Everyone seemed in a festive mood and the old time gaiety was prevalent.

Lunch was served in the home economics room by the Home Ec. class.

Mr. Emil Giegling and Mr. A. J. Joseph were in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Giegling and Mrs. Joseph of the program and Mrs. T. P. Peterson and Mrs. Roy Milnes of decorations.

It is a fine idea to revive this custom of getting acquainted with those who come closer to our children than any other persons outside of the home, and it is hoped that these pleasant occasions may be continued.

The school board are to be congratulated for making the reception possible this year.

John Bruun Buys Stephan Resort

WAS 40 YEARS IN STEPHAN FAMILY

Announcement of the sale of the Mrs. Henry Stephan resort property on the AuSable river has been made. John Bruun, manager of the Grayling State Savings Bank, is the new owner. This property has been owned by the Stephan family for over 40 years and was one of the first permanent river resorts to be established on this famous river. It is located on the north side of the Stephan bridge.

Mrs. Stephan also has sold her property at the corner north of the bridge to her nephew, John Stephan. She has in turn purchased the Tom Wells place in Grayling where she intends eventually to reside.

THE LAW SHOULD BE EN- FORCED

At least three young and able-bodied brothers in Detroit now realize that the law requiring them to support their aged and poverty-stricken father has teeth in it.

Judge Thomas C. Murphy, of the Wayne County Probate Court, stepped them in jail Monday for ignoring a court order to contribute $1.25 each, weekly, to their father's maintenance.

And they will stay there, according to Judge Murphy, until they see the error of their ways. Section 8226 of the Compiled Laws of Michigan (1929) requires sons and daughters, who have sufficient means to do so, to provide support, up to $20 a week, for parents who have no property and who are incapacitated by age or otherwise from earning a living.

The only exception to this obligation is where the son or daughter can prove that he or she was abandoned or neglected by the parents before reaching the age of 16 years.

Section 8209 goes further and provides that "the husband, wife, father, grandfather, mother, grandmother and children of any poor person, being of sufficient ability, shall jointly and severally relieve, maintain and support such poor person."

The authorities having charge of poor persons in Wayne County will find in Chapter 148 of the Compiled Laws, which includes these and other sections, ample power to compel persons, able to do so, to take their relatives off the County and support them themselves.

Vigorous enforcement of the law respecting maintenance of relatives would take a load off the taxpayers, and might also do something to revive that family pride, which formerly made it a disgrace to let any relative go to the poorhouse, but which is fast disappearing under the influence of the idea that government should assume the responsibilities of the individual.—Detroit Free Press.

IMPORTANT MEETING AT COURT HOUSE TONIGHT

Tonight (Thursday) there will be a meeting at the Court house for the purpose of talking over the plans for the winter sports park. Director P. J. Hoffmaster and commissioner Kingscott of the state conservation commission, and Senator Miles Callaghan will be the principal speakers.

This meeting is being sponsored by the officers and members of the Izaak Walton League and the Winter Sports association. The time is 8:00 o'clock. The public is urged to be present.

Many pity only themselves. Pity to some people, is so precious, that they reserve it all for themselves.

Enrollees Graduate From 8th Grade

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES
HELD TUESDAY NIGHT

Commencement exercises at which 24 enrollees from several CCC camps were graduated were held at Grayling school auditorium Tuesday evening. The event was observed with a fitting and interesting program.

Several numbers were rendered by Grayling High school orchestra, under direction of Miss Martha Johnson, instructor of music in Grayling schools.

After the singing of the Star Spangled Banner and invocation by Reverend Edgar Flory of Michelson Memorial church and a novelty harmonica and guitar number, Capt. Arthur M. Niemi, district area inspector, greeted the graduates and other enrollees and introduced the speakers, and program numbers.

The popularity of the AuSable Ramblers was obvious when they appeared to play a medley of guitar duets and songs.

Gerald Poor, superintendent of Grayling schools welcomed the officers and enrollees on behalf of the people of Grayling and the board of education. He congratulated the enrollees on their successful completion of the eighth grade studies. O. P. Schumann, while not on the program, made a few remarks urging the graduates to continue their studies as long as possible, for the better their education, more doors of opportunity are open to them.

Mr. Sam H. Hill, district educational advisor of Camp Custer, told of the work that is going on in the CCC camps and stated that that educational work is being sponsored by the federal government, and the State Department of education. A higher course is being evolved in which studies will be continued to 12th grade graduation, in which work the University of Michigan will cooperate.

The principal address of the evening was given by Mr. John S. Haisema, director of research of the state department of Public Instruction. He advocated a sound educational foundation in the principles of reading, writing, arithmetic and spelling. Being able to write a good letter was the most important talent a boy and girl must possess. Getting the utmost out of one's talents is a great factor in success.

Diplomas were presented by the company commanders, and as each young graduate's name was called by the commander of his respective camp, he mounted the stage and was handed his diploma, while his friends in the room gave him voluminous applause.

The following camps were represented by graduates: Wolverine, Capt. Burton Morrison, commanding, and Mr. Claude Pangborn, educational advisor.

Camp AuSable, Lt. James D. Hartley, commanding, and Mr. Wayne A. Rosenbaum, educational advisor.

Camp Fife Lake, Lt. Sarin M. Hilton, commanding, and Mr. J. K. Dygart, educational advisor.

Camp Presque Isle, Capt. Frank S. Pritchard, commanding, and Mr. Sherman T. Littler, educational advisor.

Camp Kalkaska, Capt. John Jourd'ay, commanding, and Mr. David G. Locke, educational advisor.

Camp Black Lake, Capt. Gerald Peterson, commanding, and O. R. Lathrop, educational advisor.

RANDOM THOTS

Wonderful weather.

Grayling would be a much larger city if we would provide the houses for which there is a demand.

We store things in the attic until it comes time to throw them away.

Driver testing devices should be used and not just spoken of.

"Profanity is the last refuge of a lazy mind."

"Charge it to dad" is a poor thing to teach your children to say. Ain't it so?

It isn't gambling, of course, when nice people put up a little money just to make the game interesting.

Do you remember when Grayling women were capable cooks and didn't own a can opener?

Henry Ford may see a long stretch of prosperity ahead but we haven't all got Henry's start.

"Hurrah! Only 20 more payments due on the old car" was a remark recently heard made by a Grayling man.

It's dangerous to drink water out of a frog pond but at least it won't make one break speed limits on the highways.

You can't improve your own home town by telling what someone else ought to do for it.

It should be a privilege to contribute to the Granger's new building fund. They're doing a great job with little personal reward.

It is claimed that little remains to be said when the Ladies Aid adjourns.

Another thing you seldom see around Grayling is a man all out of breath from running to escape temptation.

There may be reasons why married women hold jobs in Grayling that might be held by unmarried girls. Perhaps they are more able and dependable, and more aggressive about getting a job.

Let's Finish The Masonic Temple

A BIG MASONIC RALLY AND A LITTLE PUSH WILL PUT IT OVER

Attend The First Banquet There
Oct. 1st.

One of the finest structures in Grayling now stands empty because of not being finished. Floors and partitions and finances are the big objects confronting the building committee.

Everyone will agree that with the completion of Grayling's new Masonic temple this city will be taking a strong step forward. Built of solid brick after fine architectural plans it is going to be one of the buildings Grayling people will want to point to with pride whenever people come to our city.

As it stands it is fully paid for. The Masonic Temple association, under whose title the building stands, has an indebtedness of about $800 in outstanding bonds that were raised about 15 years ago for the purpose of improvements on the old Masonic temple and opera house. Thousands of dollars worth of these bonds have already been retired from money paid in by members in dues.

The old temple was destroyed by fire in April, 1930. Everything within the building was totally destroyed. The building was two stories with full basement. The upper floor was occupied by Grayling Masonic and Eastern Star lodges. In the basement was a large banquet room, kitchen, etc., used by these fraternal orders. The first floor was occupied by George Olson and used as a motion picture theatre. It was here that the fire started.

With no building and no lodge furniture and no paraphernalia with which to work, Grayling was poor indeed. The building was partly insured, the money from which was used in the building of the new temple. This is two stories high and with full basement. The upper floor is intended for lodge purposes. The first floor is designed for club and banquet purposes. It is beautifully planned by Mr. Gray, architect of St. Johns, who is the designer of Michelson Memorial church and Shoppenagons Inn.

Shortly after the destruction of the temple by fire, a mass meeting was held in the former Board of Trade rooms over the then Salling Hanson Co. general store. At the meeting it was decided that a new temple would be built.

Committees were appointed by the officers of the then Grayling Opera House Co., who were John Bruun, president, and Carl Peterson, secretary-treasurer. The building committee appointed were Fred R. Welsh, T. P. Peterson and Carl Peterson, representing the Masonic lodge; M. A. Bates, and A. L. Roberts representing the Eastern Star lodge. The finance committee consisted of T. W. Hanson, Emil Kraus, Dr. C. R. Keyport, John Bruun and Harold Jarvin. This committee was empowered to secure plans and proceed with construction of the new temple.

However before the temple was finished the financial depression lightened up money matters and everyone was hit financially. Money was hard to get and many members of the lodge were unable to pay their dues. The temple was ready except for interior finishing and final touches. It has stood that way all these years since. The corporation standing of the old Grayling Opera House Co. was dropped and later its place was taken by the Grayling Masonic Temple association, in whom the building now stands. The officers elected were George Schauble, president, Robert D. Holmberg (now deceased), secretary and Mrs. Mabel Martin, treasurer.

Several attempts have been made to secure the funds for completion of the temple and now it looks as tho it would be accomplished. Worshipful Master Ernest Larson and Secretary George Schauble and the other officers of the lodge have put on their armor and are ready to get busy and put the project over.

The enthusiasm of these men has inspired the officers of the Grand Lodge and every last one of them has promised he would come here and assist the local officers in putting on a big Masonic rally. The big day is set for Friday, October 1st. A program for the affair is being planned.

The climax of the rally will come in the evening when, for the first time, a banquet will be served in the new temple. This promises to be a big day in the history of Grayling Masonic fraternities.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 23, 1937

THERE is not a single sign indicating the Hason State Military reservation; instead the place is marked "Crawford County Game Preserve." It hardly seems fair to the memory of the donor of those 18,000 acres, comprising the reservation, Mr. Rasmus Hanson, that the proper name for the place should not appear within the property. The bronze pillars at the entrance gates tell a story that the people of Michigan should never forget. We call respectfully, this matter to the attention of the officers of Michigan National Guard, with the hope that the reservation be again designated by proper signs.

WAS A MODEST MAN

The late W. G. Payson was an extremely modest man. Even many of his closest friends heard little from him about his past. For many years he was at the head of one of the most important departments of Marshall Field & Co. in Chicago and later was sales manager for a New York City firm. Practically from young manhood he had held positions of responsibility and trust, and was recognized as one of the most able sales managers of his day. This same high type of ability, coupled with equally good business ability permitted him to retire from active service at a comparatively early age.

When a young man he enjoyed athletics and in almost every branch of sports excelled. A clipping taken from the Chicago Tribune, published in the early 90s, said the following regarding Mr. Payson:

"The principal point regarding William G. Payson is his adaptability to all contests of skill, at which he is most expert. Billy is a good pool and billiard player, bowler, base-ballist a crack shot and is not left behind in anything else wherein nerve and skill come into play."

Other clippings taken from Chicago newspapers classed him a most wonderful trap shooter even in the days of his youth. In reporting a base ball game a Chicago newspaper said: "Payson played shortstop and gave the prettiest exhibition ever seen in that position. If he keeps up the style of play with which he starts out there will be few balls get past him."

His skill at trap shooting won him many championship medals, some of which were studded with diamonds. Among his most cherished ones was that one awarded him when he won the championship for the state of Illinois.

Mr. Payson was quiet and unassuming but back of that modesty was a lifetime of successful achievement in his business responsibilities and in wholesome sport in which he was a peer. He was courteous, dignified and refined. He loved people and was an interesting conversationalist. Those who learned to know Mr. Payson were richer for it. His was a beautiful life, and he richly enjoyed it.

GOT OFF EASY

Last Monday evening when Esbern Olson drove into the golf course he discovered a car near the tool house and parties there stealing gasoline. When they saw the auto coming towards them the robbers jumped into their car and attempted to flee. They raced across number nine and number one greens doing them much damage, and escaped onto the highway, but not before Olson had their license number.

They were Wm. Kolka, David Ward and Leslie Kyles. They pleaded guilty Wednesday in Justice Petersen's court and were sentenced to a fine of $6.00 each and payment of costs, or serve a period of time in jail. Upon their promise to pay within a couple of weeks they were released upon their own recognizance.

GOOD CO-OPERATION

Compared with the first eight months of last year, the 1937 period has shown a distinct decrease in the number of Michigan forest fires and the resultant acreage loss, according to State Conservation Department figures.

As of Sept. 1, field men had reported 1,033 fires, against 2,344 at the same time in 1936. The acreage loss for this year has been 14,052, or about one-third of the 51,389 acres destroyed last year.

This is a good time to call this to public attention. Autumn is approaching. Leaves and grass in the forest areas will soon be shriveled and dry.

Travelers and late-season firecrackers may grow careless of fire hazards. A five cigarette stub tossed from a car on a highway may have serious consequences.

Let every resident of Michigan continue the fine co-operation which has lowered the total of forest fires. Let us bring our State through the dangerous weeks ahead with as good a record. —Detroit Free Press.

WOULD WORK FOR WALT DISNEY

Benny Jorgenson replied to an advertisement saying that Walt Disney Ltd., Hollywood, wanted artists. He was sent a questionnaire with requests for specimens of his work, which Benny filled out and has now completed. His application, "There is no question regarding Benny's ability as an artist but with possibly thousands of others making applications his chances of getting a position with Walt Disney might be limited. Should he get a personal tryout, we feel sure he would well qualify. Benny's natural ability and his training places him well up among the professional class."

BOW AND ARROW LICENSE

Michigan's new bow and arrow licenses for the special deer seasons in Newaygo and Isocoma counties this fall, will not be sold by any of the state license agents. They will be distributed only from the Lansing, Roscommon and Marquette offices and the various district conservation posts throughout the state.

The Safety Plan

I have often wondered how rural communities select the drivers of school buses. Is this done in a sort of indifferent way and is the job given to anybody?

Every school bus driver should be selected for dependability, good habits, his knowledge of the rules of the road, and a tested ability to drive a bus properly. No driver under the age of 21 should be hired to drive a school bus.

Every driver should be provided with a set of rules which he must observe to the letter. His is a heavy responsibility, and the continuance of his employment should depend on his hearty and faithful acceptance of this responsibility.

No bus driver should drive a school bus for more than 10 hours in any 24 hour period. Go slow—be safe.

THE RIGHT WORD

"SOME EXCEPTIONS"

"THE Right Word" has presented some thoughts in connection with the compounding of words. The dictionary gives "some exceptions."

The first of two nouns often stands as an adjective under the following conditions:

When the first noun has the sense of "made of": as silk dress; feather bed; pumpkin pie; stone wall; paper box; stone fence; iron railing.

When the first noun has the sense of "having the shape or the character or quality of": as, brother officer; fellow citizen; man servant; boy bishop.

When the first noun has the sense of "pertaining to, suitable for, or representing": as, city officer; district attorney; government employee; railroad supplies; insurance officer; church furniture.

When the first noun has the sense of "characterized by": as, diamond ring; cylinder press; cup to furnace.

When the first noun has the sense of "situated in, having a character naturally implied from situation or connection": as, ocean steamer; school etiquette; mountain streams; country gentlemen; society manners.

When the first noun has the sense of "acting in support of, advocating": as, Jackson voters; silver advocate; prohibition speakers.

When the first noun has the sense of "residing, existing, or originating in, or coming from (a place)": as, New York schools; Florida oranges; Bath brick. These should give the reader some idea of the exceptions to compounding.

WHY doesn't some one invent a corrugated shoestring—or one made of Turkish toweling? Something that won't come untied just as you are rushing to catch a train.

We used to have the theory that the best way to handle an untied shoestring was to tie it again. But without assistance the method is a flop. Your bundles fall to the sidewalk and get muddy, your handbags pop open and scatters your contents from gutter to gutter, your hat blows off, you tear your skirt, and you get mad.

It would probably be better to go with the thing untied until you come to a convenient hotel lobby. But if you do that you must learn to walk as though you had on snowshoes so that you won't trip.

Another possibility is to hail the first person you meet, ask him to hold your bundles for a minute and then boldly, with both hands free, gracefully stoop down and tie up the unwieldy bow.

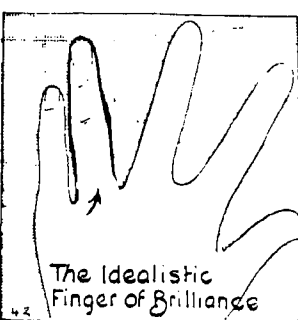

But we still think the best solution of all would be a non-slip shoestring. Come on, all you little Edisons... get going.

THE LANGUAGE OF YOUR HAND

By Leicester K. Davis

© Public Ledger, Inc.

WE ALL know men and women whose creative urges seem always to be expressed in activities which have objectives so highly idealized that they are next to impossible of attainment. Examine the third fingers of such individuals and you will very likely find a similarity that is quite striking.

Idealistic Finger of Brilliance.

Several very marked characteristics are found in third fingers of this type. Perhaps the most outstanding one is the beautifully symmetrical taper of the finger, from root to tip. This and the closeness of the finger to the fourth finger when the hand is opened wide.

The length of this finger is medium. With the fingers pressed together, its tip is found to fall quite a bit below that of the second finger, and well above that of the fourth. The knuckles are smooth and never prominent, and although well fleshed, this type is never overfull or pudgy. The nail tip is rather pointed and this is emphasized by a long and delicately oval nail, extremely well set.

A third finger of this kind invariably belongs to the man or woman of poetic temperament, one which longs for expression but is never content until it is found in form, color, words, or music of the most ethereal variety. Such people are apt to be unhappy added in environments or with associates of the workaday world because they fail to "harmonize" with hyper-exacting tastes.

SICK HEADACHES

Mrs. A. G. wishes a remedy for sick headaches and this request serves to emphasize again the obvious necessity of diagnosis in all forms of sickness before treatment properly can be instituted. The complaint is so common that a discussion of the causes of headache may be of value. By such medicine usually is meant a remedy accompanied by some form of cranial pain, but since nausea may accompany almost any type of headache in certain cases the stomach symptoms may be regarded as of secondary importance.

In most cases of persistent headache coming at frequent intervals, the cause is either due to the patient or else one requiring a careful examination by the physician for its detection. Among the more obvious causes of headache are constipation, nervousness, eyestrain and the sinus infections. Eyestrain, particularly from astigmatism, is not a very frequent cause of headache but one which must be kept in mind. Constipation is quite an obvious cause and when present, its frequent association with headache is a manifestation of a general injury to the health.

Among the more remote types of headache is one called migraine, which tends to appear in families and which requires the utmost skill on the part of the physician to accomplish any measure of relief.

Then certain general diseases, including kidney trouble, may be accompanied by intense headaches, and in these, headache remedies merely delay an early diagnosis. Local diseases within the brain, such as tumors, often are accompanied by headache, and high blood pressure in elderly may cause a morning headache.

Nervousness is a particularly common cause of headaches in certain types of personality, and these people are quite receptive of patent headache remedy advertisements. Of course, headache is commonly treated by the use of home remedies, but it must be emphasized that all diseases which require drugs should have scientific and intelligent diagnosis before treatment is begun. Most headache remedies depend for their effectiveness upon the use of acetaminophen or some other coal tar product, including aspirin. None of these should be used indiscriminately, and the fact that they are labeled "absolutely safe" should make us particularly cautious about their indiscriminate use. It is well known that acetaminophen may have a deleterious effect upon the heart, and the other coal tar products have been known to exert a similar influence upon the susceptible individuals.

Habits of Bees
The worker bees decide whether a worker or a queen is to be produced. If newly hatched larva is fed continuously in a food known as "royal jelly," a queen will result. But after the third day in the larval stage, if the diet is changed to nectar and pollen, a worker will be developed.

Length of Pilot Snake
The pilot snake or black snake may grow to a length of eight feet. It is sometimes confused with the blue racer. The fox or pine snake may grow to a length of four or five feet. It is yellowish or light brown with chocolate brown blotches, with a yellowish belly.

Hunting Licenses Expire Sept. 30

Michigan's new hunting and trapping licenses for the seasons of 1937-1938 go into effect Friday, October 1. The old licenses expire Thursday, September 30.

New licenses may be procured, as in the past, from license dealers, conservation officers and regional and district conservation posts.

Although the upland small-game hunting season in the lower peninsula does not open until Oct. 15, sportsmen who want to go afield to shoot crows or predators between the dates of Oct. 1 and Oct. 15, are required by law to procure a gun permit for 1937-1938.

After Sept. 30 gun permits will be issued by conservation officers only to those who hold the new hunting licenses.

A JOB DESTROYER

As a job destroyer the Tennessee-Valley Administration has made good. Coal miners lost half a million dollars in wages last year by the substitution of a part of the TVA project, and it is estimated that coal miners will lose ten million dollars in wages annually when TVA gets into full production. All this from an administration that was presumed to be trying to provide more work for men instead of less.—Cassopolis Vigilant.—Mich. Men and Affairs.

They Want Fishing!

MORE than two-thirds of the inquiries to the East Michigan Tourist association mention fishing. There are all kinds of fishing—and fishermen—in Michigan. Here are a few:

EQUIPMENT is of minor importance to this quaint old gentleman who's having plenty of luck catching one of Michigan's most savory fish—perch. The place: Tawas City.

SOMETHING new in fishing—fly-casting for smallmouth bass along the Lake Huron shore. Location: Port Austin. Another fishing paradise is Bob Gilgisham's famous Charity Island with headquarters at Caseville.

SPORTIEST of all game fish in Michigan is the brown trout. Sportiest place to catch them is the Au Sable. The successful angler is Kendrick Kimball who shows the same skill with the flyrod as with his typewriter on which he bangs out splendid features for The Detroit News.

LARGEST of all Michigan fish is "the one that gets away." It grows larger with each description. Study this picture and then try to estimate how large it will become some winter evening when it is verbally fought before the fireplace.

MICHIGAN'S famous fishing makes possible famous fishermen. Here's Jack Redhead, noted Au Sable guide and national trout fishing authority. Jack is a typical sportsman of the sportiest of states—MICHIGAN.

LANSING—Wielding a vigorous axe on legislative appropriations, Gov. Frank Murphy's budget chief, Harold D. Smith, has started a storm of controversy here.

While the governor was busy mediating labor strikes last spring, the legislature authorized expenditures totaling $18,000,000 in excess of prospective revenues. A last minute bill was rushed thru both houses giving the executive department the right to take a lateral cut in all appropriations.

Among the beneficiaries of the legislators' generosity were public school teachers, as the state's public school and was increased from $38,000,000 to $43,000,000. Smith pared down to $40,800,000. Immediately a flood of protests poured into the state house from all parts of the state. The Michigan Educational Association, headed by Harley V. Holmes, president, declares that the reduced appropriation left "most school boards with only two alternatives—either to finish the school year with a deficit or to cut teachers' pay."

Since the adoption in 1932 of the 15-mill tax limitation amendment, the customary school tax limit is four mills.

A bit of irony, however, is seen in the legislature's 11th hour action last June, increasing the budget director's salary from $5,000 to $7,500.

Old Age Pensions.

Old age pensions are next on Smith's economy list, as the legislative appropriation is $10,000,000, an increase of $8,000,000 over the 1936 amount. The state relief fund of $8,000,000 has been reduced 2 per cent, while the children's aid fund of $4,000,000 has been cut $240,000.

Dole cases last winter numbered 91,000, and it is estimated that the coming peak load will be 10 per cent less.

While state old age pensions are given only to indigent persons, federal old age benefits under the social security act are to employ persons who reached the age of 65 in 1937. Federal old age pensions total $1,100,000 a month in Michigan. Approximately 1,700,000 are, taxed for pensions, and 60,000 are receiving public assistance.

At Lansing a federal old age benefit bureau has been opened. The state director, B. C. Schutte, asserted: It is apparent that hundreds of persons have reached 65 without realizing that they are entitled to lump sum payments under the social security act. Payments can be made only to persons who contributed by wage deductions since January 1, 1937, and prior to their 65th birthday.

August's cost of state old age assistance was $369,115, distributed among 48,422 persons with an average amount of $18.02. The cost is steadily rising.

"Speed-Up" Results.

The "speed-up" of the automobile assembly line is accredited by federal authorities for a large amount of unemployment in Michigan among men over 50 years.

"Men are often 'washed up' at 50," said P. D. Fahrenstock of Washington, D. C., social security board executive, in an address in Lansing.

You can't have sitting around worrying and brooding until they are 65 when they become eligible for old age assistance. This is where our new program of vocational rehabilitation comes in. This will mean a great deal to automotive centers.

The federal government is designed to provide new means of livelihood for middle-aged men who can't stand the pressure of industrial work and who are ineligible for old age pensions.

C. I. O. Indictment.

Out of the epidemic of "sit-down" strikes in Michigan automobile plants—both authorized and unauthorized—came dire predictions that C. I. O. irresponsibility would induce manufacturers to move to other states, preferably in the Tennessee Valley Authority where government electricity is available at low rates.

One answer to these speculations was provided at Flint a few days ago when Harlow H. Curtice of the Buick Motor company informed newsmen that the company has spent $40,000,000 in three years for plant expansion and retooling—$10,000,000 of this amount within the last year. Under the new program, 300,000 Buick units will be produced in 1938.

The strongest indictment of the C. I. O. made in many months was made by Flint delegates to the third Archdiocesan Catholic Action convention of the Federation of Catholic Study Clubs, meeting in Detroit. The Catholics declared that the C. I. O. in Flint, was lawless and terroristic, forcing many workers to join against their will.

Cheap Electricity

One of the cards in Governor Murphy's "New Deal" for Michigan has been rural electrification through federal co-operative associations. The movement is intended to furnish cheap electricity to farmers.

At Uby, in the "THUMB" district, a huge electric generating plant is to be constructed. The government is loaning several million dollars to the Thumb co-op.

According to the state utilities commission, private power companies have been purposely building rural power lines in the better farm areas, leaving sparsely populated districts for the federal co-ops to serve. The commission now seeks an injunction to restrain the Consumers Power company of Jackson from building any more rural power lines until the commission has approved plans and specifications. A bill specifically granting this supervisory power to the state commission was introduced in the 1937 legislature, passed by the house, but died in the senate committee.

Michigan now leads all mid-west states in per capita progress of rural electrification, according to national statistics.

No Drouth Here.

All trade prospects continue to improve thruout Michigan, as the conditions of crops remain good and as fall planting is made without handicap of drouth. In many states—Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Kansas, and Nebraska—drouth conditions prevail for fall plowing and planting.

Whereas Wisconsin's cherry and potato crops were greatly reduced this year due to the widespread drouth, Michigan growers enjoy fine yields.

Proof of the economic improvement is seen in bank deposits which have soared $67,154,000 and reserves have climbed $24,000,000.

Beer Embargo Unpopular

An embargo in Michigan against Indiana-made beer would be very unpopular with Michigan growers of fruits and vegetables judging from protests which have reached Lawrence Rabbitt, secretary of the state liquor control commission. Indiana provides a big market for Michigan fruits and vegetables, and growers fear retaliatory embargoes.

The 1937 legislature made mandatory an embargo on beer in states which imposes a higher tax on out-of-state brews than on home beer. The law is now before attorney General Starr for a ruling on its validity.

Apples Vs. Doctors.

If there is any truth to the old saying, Michigan doctors can take a vacation next winter.

Michigan apple crop is a bumper in size, enough to provide father, mother and all the kids with an apple a day. In fact, the crop has worried officials of the Michigan Apple Institute, headed by Roscoe J. Martin of Bangor. The federal government thru the AAA has offered to buy 600 carloads of apples for distribution among relief recipients. Another factor to help stabilize the apple market will be participation of chain store and independent food retailers in a statewide sales program this fall.

How to dispose of Michigan apples is not so easy as it would seem. More Washington-grown apples have been sold in Michigan than Michigan apples, and Institute leaders believe the answer lies in the advertising campaign to acquaint Michigan and the Mid-West with the merits of our home grown product.

Michigan Miscellany.

A survey by the United Press reveals that two-thirds of Michigan legislators are opposed to a special session this fall.

The legislative investigating committee into gambling has reached the point where members are promising criminal indictments. The House voted to legalize slot machines and dog racing.

Millions of white pine, Norway, spruce and red pine seedlings are being planted this month in national forests by CCC youth.

New state park sites will be bot this fall on the great lakes and the St. Clair river. The legislature appropriated $300,000.

BUILDING PARK SPACE AT HATCHERY

Fill dirt has been hauled and graded at the Grayling State Fish Hatchery by CCC workers of Camp Kalkaska under forester John C. DeCamp, for an automobile parking area and for a lawn around the Hatchery headquarters building. Then lawn will be seeded, and trees and shrubs planted, later in the fall.

For the fill, muck was taken from bottom lands of the AuSable river, and clay-loam from pits near the Hartwick Pine State Park. The hatchery is a favorite spot for tourists and visitors in this area.

WHILE MEAT IS EXPENSIVE

By Betty Barclay
How can the contents of a "skinny" purse take care of our food demands when meat, eggs and butter prices are "sky high"? There's a problem for the housewife.

"Combination dishes, containing small portions of meat and some other food that is rich in protein, minerals and carbohydrates." That's the answer.

The dried Lima bean is a concentrated food, rich in nutritious, body-building elements. As it may be purchased in cans during the entire year, the following recipes may be tried out in your home—any time.

Lima and Ham Loaf
1 cup cooked, dried Limas
½ cup ground ham
¼ cup chili sauce or catsup
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 cup cracker crumbs
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
Rub Limas through a coarse strainer. Add ham, chili sauce, eggs, pepper, salt, minced onion, butter and cracker crumbs. Shape into a loaf, place in a buttered pan in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) and bake for 30 minutes, basting occasionally with the melted butter. Serve with brown gravy.

Limas With Sausage
½ pound sausage
1 medium-sized onion
1 cup cooked, dried Limas
1 cup tomatoes
½ teaspoon chili
½ teaspoon salt
Fry onion and sausage until well done. Add other ingredients and simmer for 30 minutes.

TREASURE HUNT PROVIDES GOOD TIME FOR CHILDREN

The Michigan Sunshine Club "Treasure Hunt", which was held on Saturday afternoon at the Oddfellow Temple, turned out to be a happy time as usual. The party was sponsored by Michigan Bakeries with Mrs. Marion Martin of that company in charge.

The affair is usually held out of doors, but due to weather conditions it was impossible this year. All Grayling children having been invited, there were many smiling faces there.

The treasures of various colored capsules were hidden about the room for the children to find and return to the treasure table to redeem them. The winners being determined according to the colors. Each child received a gift of a balloon as well as the treasures.

The Michigan Bakeries who have their headquarters in Traverse City, sponsor such treasure hunts in other localities each year as well as in Grayling.

JUNIOR CARLSON HAS BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Edwin Carlson entertained with a birthday party for her son Junior Edwin Carlson, Tuesday afternoon at the A. E. Hendrickson cottage at Lake View Park.

The table was set for 13 boys and girls and two teachers, Miss Fyvie and Miss Fink. Pink and white were the colors carried out with a pink birthday cake, containing nine candles in the center of the table. Each child present received a favor consisting of a pink cap and a prize.

During the afternoon Miss Fink and Miss Fyvie entertained the children with a boat ride, while Mrs. Carlson, assisted by her mother Mrs. Hendrickson, prepared the lunch.

Following an evening of real fun the children were returned to their homes, each wishing Junior many more happy birthdays. Junior was the recipient of many lovely gifts.
